

ABSTRACT

A check means 101 for checking on registration of a telephone number accessing the home server in response to a call-up to the home server via a public telephone network, is provided, and an internet-connection service call function is further provided an internet service provider 7101. By using these means and function, the home server accepts only a registered telephone number, and performs an internet service which has been required the call-up accepted by the check means 101.

T00E20" 84E9T560
0916348-073001